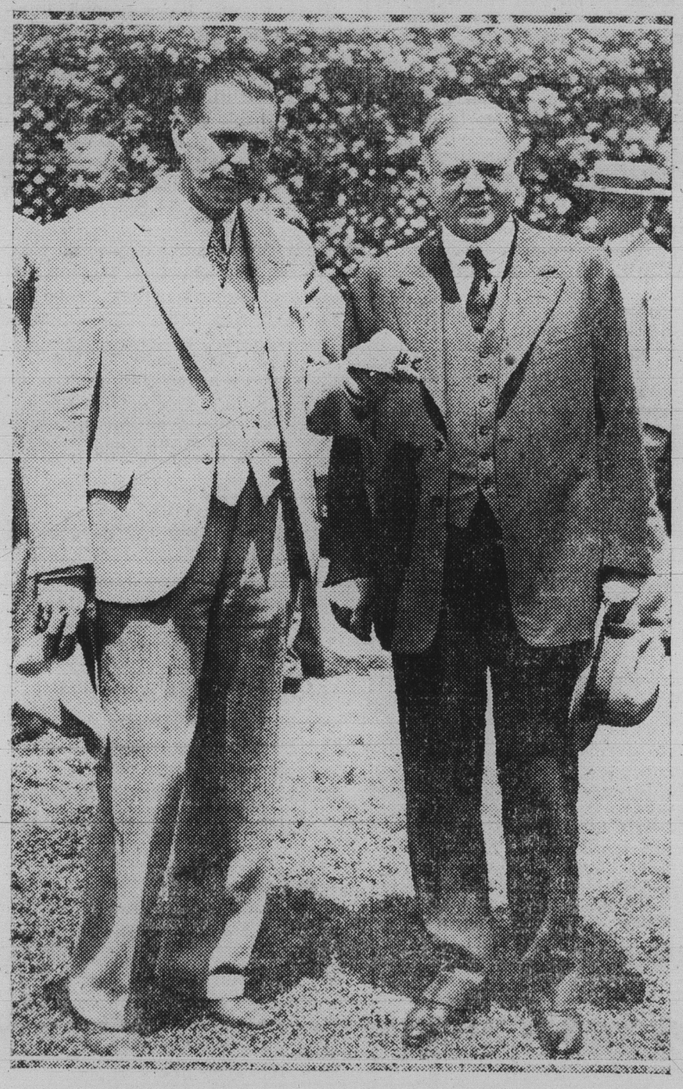
Herbert Hoover Visits House Where He Lived As a Mining Student



On the occasion of his visit to Nevada City, while he was the Nation's Chief Magistrate, Congressman H. L. Englebright, presented President Hoover with a piece of ore from the mine in which he worker while he was a student in Stanford University.

Herbert Hoover, former President, accompanied by his son, Herbert Hoover Jr., his brother Theodore Hoover, Standford professor, and F. Nobs of Grass Valley, with whom he was an over-night guest Friday, visited Nevada City Saturday morning.

Mr. Hoover called on Judge Raglan Tuttle and later visited Nevada City's business district renewing old acquaintances. He stopped in the news stand of Mrs. Jennie Preston, the branch office of the Grass Valley Union in the city, and then visited the house where he lived while working in the mines here to gain that practical experience which Stanford University, in which he was a student, required in the mining engineering courses.

The house where the former president lived in his student days stands on Boulder street, and his former host was Joe Fleming, sometime since deceased. It now belongs to two sons of the late owner.

Since Marh 4, President Hoover has turned his attention to mining, on which his fortune was founded. Only a short time since he visited the Comstock Lode, in company with Ogden Mills, former Secretary of the Treasury.

While in Nevada City Saturday he visited the Murchie mine.

In 1930 President Hoover visited Nevada City and was photographed with Congressman Harry Englebright, who handed him a piece of ore from the mine in which Hoover worked while a Sanford student.

GOODYEAR BAR MINES ACTIVE

With the opening of the spring season ,mining activity around Goodyear's Bar has been resumed.

C. L. Thomas who has a lease on the Higgins property of 160 acres on Goodyears Creek, located three miles north of Goodyear's Bar, is being opened up and developed by a group of Los Angeles men.

They have now opened a large old channel and are finding some heavy gold, some of the nuggets running about an ounce in size.

A slide of rock and earth on the road to the mine held up work for a time this spring and was cleaned out, but another slide occurred, and this again being cleared by the Supervisor and crew of men in that section of Sierra county. The men are compelled to walk to and from the mine which makes work slow.

Mr. Thomas stated that at present they are moving about 100 yards of gravel a day and expect to take out 500 yards a little later on. They have an abundance of water for all their operations.

The Eureka gravel property above Goodyear's Bar has just been opened up and they are washing gravel withn the last few days.

Mr. Wnrod, who is operating a quartz property northeast of Goodyear's Bar, is busily engaged at the present opening up a ledge on Saddle Back.

W. J. Casserly and wife are sluicing gravel on a large bar just above the little town of Goodyear's Bar.

In the early days the gravel bars, creeks and old channels yielded large quantities of the precious yellow metal.

PREMIER MINE STILL SINKING WORK SHAFT

The Grass Valley Premier mine in the Newtown district is still sinking in the working shaft.

Within a few days it is expected to start crosscutting at the bottom of the shaft toward a good vein that shows up on the surface. This was followed for many feet in sinikng operations.

M. B. Rapp, formerly of Cripple Creek and now residing in Santa Monica, is a guest of the National Hotel in this city. Mr. Rapp is here to examine two mining properties which have been submitted to him.

PREJUDICE AGAINST BURGLARS NO BAR TO SERVING ON JURY

AUBURN, June 12—(UP)—Holding a prejudice against burglars isn't any bar to jury duty in Placer county.

Summoned as a talesman in a burglary trial here, Edgar Allen Forbes, Loomis editor ,told Superior Judge George H. Thompson he didn't think he should serve. His office recently had been burglarized, he said, and consequently he felt a prejudice against burglars.

The judge, however, held the excuse invalid, declaring all good citizens were prejudiced against burglars. Forbes was accepted by both sides and the case proceeded.

TWIN CITIES DANCING PAVILION IS OPENED

The Twin Cities Pleasure Pavilion which has just been rebuilt after burning about a year ago, was thronged last Saturday evening, the opening night.

It was only recently that the hall association, composed of Hammill, Abbott and Fossa, decided to rebuild and let the contract to Reed and Burton.

The pavilion is of open air design for the summer months.

Whoosh ! Here Goes A Year's Tin Can Pile

This is Clean-up Week.

City Clerk George H. Calanan, acting on authorization from the city council this morning announced that beginning tomorrow and for the following five working days, Sam Trevethick will cart away the rubbish of householders at the city's expense.

Householders are asked to have their refuse either on the side walk or immediately adjacent to it in such containers that they can be readily dumped into the garbage truck. For the purpose of making a thoroughly clean sweep of domestic debris that have been accumulating, the city has been divided into sections, which will be served on days designated below:

Tuesday—Piety Hill and adjacent territory.

Wednesday—Prospect Hill and adjacent territory.

Thursday—Boulder street and adjacent territory.

Friday—Main and Coyote streets.

Saturday—Lost Hill and East and West Broad streets.

Monday—Pine street.

LAKE VERA SOON SCENE OF CAMP FIRE GIRL JOYS

With the first warm days of the season the lodges of the Camp Fire Girls at Lake Vera north of Nevada City, are being made in readiness for the several hundred girls and officials that will be coming up from the bay region and Sacramento.

Howard Baxter, busines man of Oakland, and one of the leaders in the Camp Fire Girls Association, accompanied by Miss Gladys Snyder, of the Oakland group, are at Camp Celio getting the camp ready for the two sessions of Camp Fire Girls, the first to arrive about June 25.

Sixteen business men of different clubs in Oakland also came up Sunday to assist in getting the camp in shape for the first of 110 girls.

Thirty councilors came up Sunday to prepare for the girls. The councilors will hold a three day session commencing Thursday.

It is the policy of these organizations to patronize local merchants as far as possible.

The S. P. railroad company made an attractive offer on rates and they will arrive as usual on the Narrow Gauge and be driven to camp by local busses.

Camp Augusta, with Miss Rhea Rupert as executive secretary is arranging for their opening June sixteenth.

Camp Sacramento will open June 25 on the north shores of Lake Vera.

Council Calls For Bids For Water Pipe Line

The city council, meeting last Thursday evening, took the first step toward replacing the redwood pipe line leading down from the Canada Hill reservoir to the junction with the city mains at Main and Clay streets. The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for 2900 feet of steel pipe and the first publication of the notice to contractors appears in today's issue of this newspaper.

Following the prolonged snow storm of January and February, when water was at length obtained and turned into this main, one section of the pipe blew out, and fears have been entertained for the safety of the city's water supply.

The cost of the new pipe line and its welding and installation, estimated a couple of months ago by City Engineer Edwin C. Uren, would approximate $3700.

Bids will be opened by the city council Wednesday, June 28.

VANDEGRIFT WOULD INCREASE BEER TAX TO DOLLAR A BARREL

SACRAMENTO, June 12—(UP)—Fearful the present rate of consumption of beer will not continue, Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, plans to ask the legislature for an increase in the beer tax from 62 cents to $1 per barrel of 31 gallons.

At the present rate the beer tax will bring in $1,400,000 revenue to the state, but Vandegrift estimates this will fall to $1,400,000 or less. A $1 per barrel tax would net the state around $2,000,000 per biennium.

ENGLEBRIGHT IN FIGHT TO SAVE MINING RIGHTS

The following telegram has been received from Harry L. Englebright, Congreessman from this district, describing another attempt to vacate the mining laws that now govern acquisition of claims on government land other than in the National Forests. This attempt is a repitition of similiar attempts made for the past twenty years to destroy all opportunities for mining men on government lands. Englebright has vigorously resisted these attacks, but is now calling for assistance from the mining interests in California. His telegram follows:

Washington, D. C. June 12, 1933

Administration forces are endeavoring to pass a bill through Congress placing all public lands not in national forests, national parks or Indian reservations, in grazing districts to be formed in the various western states and to be administered by the Secretary of the Interior. This bill will practically take away surface rights from mining locations and will place mining operations in such grazing districts under rules and regulations of the Secretary of the Interior. Bill also prevents from homesteading or settlement of western lands except as prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior. Am fighting the same and endeavoring to have mining locations and mining developments excluded from the regulations of the measure. Efforts will be made to have same passed by Congress within next few days. Kindly wire me entering any protest that your association may desire to make against this measure. Bill is known as H. R. 2835.

HARRY L. ENGLEBRIGHT,

Judge F. A. Austin of Alleghany visited in Nevada City Sunday.

ALLEGHANY IS NOW REBUILDING

ALLEGHANY, June 12—Like San Francisco after the earthquake and fire had raked and ravaged it, Alleghany is beginning to rise again from ashes and ruin.

Calling the roll of the fire victims it is found that the invincible spirit of the Argonauts, to do and dare, to lose and find again, is still the impelling force among them.

Before the embers were all extinguished William Goggins had men clearing off Dr. W. B. Hardie's lot, the former site of the Hardie apartments. Since the day after the fire a crew of eight men, headed by H. M. Sutcliffe, local contractor, have been busily at work constructing a new building.

The building with its fixtures will represent an investment of $3,000. It will house three businesses, a beauty shop, a barber shop and a clubroom. The building will be open for business today, just 11 days after the fire.

THREE CONTRACTS LET

Three others have contracted with Sutcliffe to rebuild. Mrs. R. M. Ponticelia of Nevada City, who lost a pool hall and apartment house in the fire, will build a $3,000 soft drink establishment with living quarters above. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson will rebuild one of their two houses at a cost of $5,000. Mr. and Mrs. Irve Green, who suffered a $40,000 loss in the Annex were destroyed, will erect a $2,000 bungalow.

Jerry Fagan, local carpenter, is leveling the ground to build two cabins at a cost of $1,500 in his addition to the southern part of town. Fortunately his properties in Alleghany were all out of the fire zone.

TO REBUILD HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Rod McDougall have Michael Shea and James Grace, local carpenters, at work clearing the lot of their former home ,in which they spent 2 years of married life. They will rebuild a $3,500 home of two stories.

Frank Davis & Sons, who lost their store in the fire, will not rebuild.

GARAGE BECOMES STORE

Jack Bowden will remodel the basement of his home into a lunch counter and tamale parlor at a cost of $1,00.

Ray Hawkins, proprietor of the Alpha and Red and White Store in Alleghany, will conduct his business at the Alleghany Garage for some months to come. The last few days he has been moving his post office

SEN. DEUEL IN FAVOR OF GAS TAX DIVERSION

State Senator Charles Deuel of Chico who favors gas tax deversion.

SACRAMENTO, June 12—(UP)—Senator Charles Deuel, Chico, a very thoughtful, veteran legislator whose guiding principle is "fewer and better laws," believes California's voters would be wise to approve the so-called Riley-Stewart tax revision plan and endorse the diversion of gasoline tax fund to the state general fund.

Referring to the tax revision plan which wil lappear on the June 27 ballot labelled Senate Constitutional Amendment number 30, Deuel said:

ADOPTION FAVORED

"I favor its adoption. Not because I deem it perfect but because it is probably the best that can be had at this time and because the present system has broken down under stress of charged economic conditions and its own rigidity.

"The proposed amendment is a disappointment in that it does not banish mandatory provisions relating to schools. But the amendment does promise real property relief. It should lift part of the taxation burden now destroying home, farm and business property values. It should check local government extravagance through supervised budgets and budget increase limitations."

TAX THOSE WHO NOW ESCAPE

Senator Deuel said the plan does not provide additional taxes. These should be designed by the legislature to fall upon those who now escape taxation.

"Balancing good against bad, I believe there is more good than evil in this amendment," Deuel continued. "As something must be done to revise the state's fiscal policies, it should be adopted."

Turning to gas tax diversion Senator Deuel observed:

"The people will be asked to advise the legislature whether or not they desire a diversion of gas tax funds from the building and maintenance funds of th ehighway system ,to meet annual payments upon interest and bonds voted to build the primary highways years ago.

"This totals $8,000,000 annually. Id adopted it wil lresult in less new highway construction to that extent annually.

ROAD BONDS

"The bonds were voted before the gas tax system was evolved. Interest and payments upon principal are now a charge against the general fund. That fund is in a state of collapse.

"Proceeds of the bonds went to highways alone, which are now a part of the system. So if the diversion is made ,it cannot be truthfully said that gas tax money thus used has been diverted to something entirely foreign to the object for which it was levied.

"Yet, were it not for the fact that the state is suffering economic distress, I would not be in favor of di-

A MAN'S A MAN FOR A' THAT

It was Kipling who, speaking of the East and West, concluded "that ne'er the twain shall meet."

The license of poets of course permits them to utter generalities of this kind. It was East and West meeting however, which resulted in the creation of such a talented Eurasian as Lafcadio Hearn. It might be pleaded that an instance of this kind is one of the exceptions that prove the poet's general rule, but we surmise that in some centuries, or at most a thousand or two years, East and West will meet, as they have already met and amalgamated in eastern Europe and the Near East, and we shall have, to use a geological term, a conglomerate race, and but one race.

In another sense East and West have long since met. The fortunes of the Dollar family were, in last analysis, founded on the good faith Capt. Robert Dollar kept with his Chinese merchant customers, on his great understanding and appreciation of the sterling virtues and fundamental honesty of the Chinese merchant class. The great trade and splendid trade relationship the United States today enjoys with China, typical of which is the $50,000,000 dollar loan the United States is today making China (much to the vexation of Japan), are due in great measures to the complete understanding of the Yankee trading mind with the Chinese trading mind.

This trading compact, dating back to the very beginning of the clipper ships, has been more or less sentimentalized, but by and large China, and, until recently, Japan, never has had a truer and more steadfast friend than Uncle Sam. Witness, to recall but one of many instances in which our friendship has been demonstrated, the use of the Boxer indemity millions as an educational fund for young Chinese students in American universities.

But the meeting of East and West goes much further even than that in California. Among those Argonauts who came to "these here hills" in search of gold were hundreds of Chinese, as eager for gold as the Caucasians and perhaps more so, since the Chinese people, along with being very ancient, has for so many centuries been poverty ridden in a sense that no one in this country or in Europe could possibly understand.

It is true that there was a period of persecution of these pigtailed, slant eyed people from the trans-Pacific; our hardy forefathers were not always just to them; they were often blindly intolerant; but as time wore on, the admirable patience the indefatigable and ever-lasting industry, the inherent honesty and peace loving attributes of these aliens, began to be understood and respected.

It dawned on those who used their heads to think with, that while these strange humans from over the seas were different, still they were men, and no mean type of men, when they came to know them well.

The fine flowering of this discovery is taking place today. We find for instance, the Grass Valley Chamber, and we doubt not some of the members of that organization are deacons or officers in Protestant churches, restoring for an aged Chinese his place of worship. They respect that spirit which would impell a so-called idolator, to creep over the packed snow through a broken window, into the ruined abode of his gods. It was a fine, humanitarian service, aside from any of its sentimental and historical values, that the chamber rendered this old, old man. Though its a seeming paradox, we go further, and say that this rebuilding of a home for "idols" was a Christian service.

Then again, over in Alleghany, among those burned out by the recent fire was a humble old Chinese, named Fong. What takes place there? Why, while everybody else is rebuilding, a purse is being made up, mainly among those who have lost much and have little to spare, to rebuild for Fong his home. There are plenty of people who remember when Fong was younger; they remember his kindness, his civic mindedness, and those qualities of character which make the man, regardless of the color of skin he wears over his heart.

On the whole we think Kipling was wrong, that time will prove him wrong to racial meetings and that as to social and economic relations he was wrong when he wrote.

TRAFFIC FACILITIES IN CITY IMPROVED

Under the vigorous administration of Chief of Police Garfield Robson traffic facilities have improved and traffic abuses have been much reduced during the past several weeks.

Instead of pulling into Pine street from Broad and then backing out again, with a crab-like motion, the Nevada City-Grass Valley bus now enters on Commercial street turns into Pine and stops in front of the Shamrock cafe. When ready to leave it proceeds down Broad street.

Old crossing lanes have been repainted and new ones established. "Slow" signs have been painted on pavements at dangerous interersections and blind turns.

WEEKLY COMMENT

By CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

Of all contemporary writers Jim Tully rings the bell with me. His straight forward attacks of whatever matter he is treating seems to me the acme of good sense. He is not burdened with verbosity. Of course he has a tremendous store of intimate personal knowledge of whatever subject he writes about and that may account for much of his straightforwardness.

I bend my verbal elbow and drink a verbal toast to the efficiency demonstrated in suppressing bootlegging near the Bloomfield C. C. C. Here's hoping that any further attempts to sell liquor to these young men will meet with the same stern measures.

Alleghany is emerging from her ashes. She shakes her blackened groggy head and new buildings are beginning to appear. The esprit of the pioneer cannot be fathomed. Undaunted by former setbacks and financial disaster his descendants press ever onward to greater success. Alleghany will be no exception.

My oldest son went to visit his aunt at Quincy and every once in a while there comes a choke when the reality of his absence flows into my consciousness. Oh! well even strong men weaken in like circumstances.

MANY MOURN PASSING OF CHARLES H. HOSKINGS

Funeral services were held yesterday for Charles Henry Hoskings, 50 years of age, who was born and passed most of his life in Nevada City. Many friends are today mourning the passing of this genial, wholesouled man who had so many fine attributes to commend him.

Mr. Hoskings and his wife, formerly Miss Anne Bailey of this city had been married 26 years. Both were much interested in fraternal affairs. Mrs. Hoskings is a member of the Eastern Star and her husband was a member of the Masonic orders and of the Elk's of this city.

Last November Mr. Hoskings suffered a paralytic stroke but his splendid physic brought him through, though he was unable to do without the use of crutches thereafter. His death came last Wednesday as the result of another stroke.

COUNTIES PAY TO STATE TOTAL OF$3,230,098

SACRAMENTO, June 12— (UP)— Semi-annual settlement with 58 counties today had netted the state $3,230,098.89, approximately one million under last year's collection at this date.

Nevada county's contribution to the huge sum was $865.

The money, State Controller Ray L. Riley pointed out, included the settlement due the state by counties for care of institutional patients, inheritance tax, and other items. The corresponding five months settlement in 1932 totaled $4,191,166.74 or $961,067.85 more than this year's total.

A peculiar situation has arisen, the controller pointed out. Three large counties were short on their settlement.

THREE FAIL TO SETTLE

"No provision is made by law for the acceptance of registered warrants of the counties which are unable to meet their obligations due the state," Riley said. "Therefore, Alemeda, Imperial and Sacramento counties failed to settle in full."

Alameda lowes $33,502.57; Imperial, $1,653.18 and Sacramento, $5,853.48.

Riley has two alternatives: one, to grant treasurers of the three coutnies extended time to meet their definit obligations to th state; two, to exercise his power, in such cases, of fining each treasurer $1,000.

NO PENALTIES COMING

The controller made it clear he would not impose a penalty on the treasurers and would extend to December the time for paying of the balance due. Asked what he would do then, if the money is still not forthcoming, Riley smiled quietly and observed, "Let's wait and see what happens first."

The semi-annual settlement included the following items: property tax, $143.70; tax deeded land, $2.96; Inheritance tax, $2,821,080.22; Poll tax, $4; estates deceased persons, $27,475.30; the correstional schools, $98,593.51; homes for feeble minded, $256,785.69; Narcotic patients, $13,415.11; deaf and blind children, $613.08 and transferred patients (narcotic and feeble minded) $11,975.32.

NEW FARM ORDER EXPLAINED BY ENGLEBRIGHT

The following letter has been received by the Nevada City Nugget from Harry L. Englebright, Congressman from this district and resident of Nevada City, explaining the Farm Credit Administration:

Nevada City Nugget
Nevada City, Calif.

June 12, 1933

Dear Editor:

Through the many inquires addressed to me, it is evident that there is widespread misunderstanding as to the scope of the functions that have been assumed by the Farm Credit Administration. In order that you may be fully advised, I am here briefly summarizing its make up.

Under an Executive Order of March 27, 1933, which order became effective on May 27th, the following existing agencies of the Federal Government, having to do solely with farm credits, were consolidated into a single agency to be knows as the Farm Credit Administration.

CONSOLIDATED FUNCTIONS

1. The Federal Farm Board, which administers the Agricultural Marketing Act, making loans to farmers' cooperative organizations for effective merchandising and other purposes.

2. The Federal Farm Loan Bureau, which supervises the operations of the Federal Land Banks and the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks.

3. That portion of the functions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which has to do with the management of the twelve (12) regional agricultural credit corporations (one in each Land Bank district) and their branches.

4. The Crop Production Loan Office and the Seed Loan Office of the Department of Agriculture.

TWO BOARDS ABOLISHED

The Federal Farm Board and the Federal Farm Loan Board were both abolished by the order, but the chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board was continued in office as Governor of the Farm Credit Administration and the Farm Loan Commissioner, a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board, was continued in office subject to the jurisdiction of the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration.

It should be noted that no new function was created by the Executive Order, but that it merely consolidate existing agencies, with their existing functions, under a new name.

ACTIVITIES OUTLINED

For your further information permit me to review the activities that will be carried on by the various divisions of the Farm Credit Administration.

1. Mortgage Loans on Farm Property. These are made by the twelve Federal Land Banks, under the terms of the Farm Loan Act as amended, including the amendments made by the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933 and the rules and regulations heretofore prescribed by the Federal Farm Loan Board and hereafter by the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration. These first mortgage loans are made either through National Farm Loan Associations, or directly by the banks.

2. Crop Loans, as heretofore administered by the Crop Production Loan Division of the Department of Agriculture.

These loans are limited by regulation to $300 each and are granted merely to provide minimum expense of putting in a crop where no other resource are available, and the security taken is generally a crop lien.

3. Direct Refinancing and Production Loans of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporations.

EMERGENCY LOANS

These are in larger amounts than the loans desscribed in Paragraph 2, but are also a temporary and emergency character, generally maturing in one year. The security taken is varied and may include warehouse receipts and mortgages on chattels as well as lands. Applications are handled by any one of the twelve regional corporations or their branches, of which there are twenty-one.

4. Marketing and Facility Loans to Farmers' Cooperatives. These are now handled by the Cooperative Division of Farm Credit Administration, which is the successor to the functions of the Federal Farm Board under the Agricultural Marketing Act. Later it is proposed to decentralize this activity by setting up cooperative banks in each one of the twelve Federal Land Bank districts. Current applications should, however, be made to the offices of the Farm Credit Administration, 1300 E. street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

5. Capital Stock Loans to Cooperate Credit Corporations. This function was taken over from the Secretary of Agriculture.

Permit me to emphasize again that no other function or activity than those listed above is carried on by the Farm Credit Administration. The work of this Administration has to do solely with loans and credit to farmers and fram cooperatives.

The Federal Land Bank of Berkeley, Berkeley, California, will supply information concerning any of the foregoing subjects. All applications should be made to the Federal Land Bank of Berkeley.

Sincerely yours,
Second District of California.

FOUR BALES OF HOPS BUY COLLEGE EDUCATION

CORVALLIS, Ore., June 12—Oregon colleges and universities can look for increased enrollment from the farming districts next year, reported Dean W. A. Schoenfiend of the Oregon State College School of Agriculture.

Should current prices hold, Schoenfield said, a hop grower could send his son or daughter to college for a year on the sale of three bales. A year ago it would have taken 20 bales. The sheep man will only need half as much wool, and the farmer two-thirds the amount of wheat that was necessary a year ago.

HIGHWAYS TO GET 16 MILLIONS

SACRAMENTO, June 12—(UP)—Continuation of California's highway building program during the first five months of the year provided for the expenditure of more than $16,000,000 on new and carry-over projects, records of the state division of highways reveal.

The item of new construction and reconstruction totaled $5,075,700; maintenance, $2,209,000, and the fund to complete work carried over from 1932, $8,673,000.

Work orders for new projects have been issued in the amount of $608,300, projects advertised total $287,000 and projects anticipated for advertising during June, $207,000 At the beginning of the month there were 85 going contracts for state highway work in force, of which 67 were for road construction and 18 for bridges and grade separations.

The spring oiling program for the alleviation of dust on shoulder and earth roads is virtually all under way, according to reports. Contracts for the oiling of 436 miles of state highway at a cost of $124,800 have been awarded. The program contemplates the expenditure of $150,000 for oiling 500 miles of roads.

"Lack of funds," a report said, "has made it necessary for the department of public works to discontinue the three-day-a-week plan which has given relief to approximately 7,000 unemployed men and their dependents.

"In practically every case the men employed on the relief projects were those with the most dependents, averging five to a family. While it is true these men earned only $12 a week, the relief given them cannot be stimatd in dollars and cents."

FEDERALS NAB 'LEGGERS SELLING TO C. C. C. CAMPS

Two alleged booze sellers who made the mistake of selling their alleged whiskey to the men in the C. C. C. camp at Bloomfield, were arrested and whisked off to Sacramento last week. The two men, Roy Shinkard, and Leo Smith, were nabbed by Federal officers, following investigation of a complaint by the camp officials.

Two cooks returning from a trip up the road from the camp were in such inebriated condition they were unable to function in the kitchen. Federal officers called in to solve the mystery were easily able to purchase booze, not only drinks but a pint flask of whiskey from the unsuspecting suspects. Arrests followed promptly.

SELF HELP IS FIRST REQUISITE WITH R. F. C.

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, June 12—(UP)—Self-help is the new measuring stick which will, hereafter, govern allocation of federal relief funds to California's counties, R. C. Branion, state emergency relief administrator, has announced.

The Federal Emergency Relief act just passed, revises the entire system of federal participation in state relief work. Under this plan, the government will disburse funds on a quarterly basis. It will contribute one relief dollar for every three the state—that includes city, county and state agencies—raised during the preceding quarter.

Heretofore the federal funds have been disbursed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Hereafter, however, the R. F. C. will not handle these state relief funds. Up to June 1, 33 California counties received $9,800,259 in relief funds from the R. F. C.

Nevada county has received no funds from the R. F. C.

"Here's the way the new plan works," Branion explained. "We will notify the Federal Emergency Relief administrator, the total monies expended by the state, county and city agencies for the second quarter of this year, April, May and June."

KNIFE WEILDER SENT TO JAIL AND FINED

Alpin Wiiapla of Nevada City was fined $50 and sentenced to ten days in the city jail for disturbing the peace when he pleaded guilty before City Judge Miles D. Coughlin.

Wiiapla was taken into custody by nightwatchman W. C. Jeffries after Wiiapla had drawn a knife in Schreiber's Restaurant and threatened the proprietor. He did considerable damage to furniture until someone stopped him with the butt end of a billiard cue.

Judge Coughlan suspended half the fine and jail sentence.
